August 27, 2001

IMBA is pleased to endorse the Bike4Life charity ride from Canada to Mexico.

The Bike4Life charity project pursues two important goals:

First, Bike4Life hopes to raise money and awareness for the Lance Armstrong Foundation through the support of sponsors, partners, and the media. The Bike4Life team will be riding to inspire others to organize similar events to help those less fortunate.

The second goal is to support the International Mountain Bicycling Association (IMBA). IMBA's mission is to represent the mountain biking community by protecting and creating trail opportunities.

Bike4Life supports responsible riding and the work of the many mountain bike clubs located along their route. The team will report on the bicycling projects and volunteer trail work activities they encounter during their journey.

IMBA encourages bicycle clubs and bicycling enthusiasts to support the Bike4Life team and their goals.

Sincerely,

Pete Webber, IMBA membership director
